

Introducing

Tina V. Bryson

As an inspirational speaker and author, I have a passion for seeing God's Word transform lives and help us to recognize the WOW moments God has placed in our daily experiences.

My ministry logo reminds me that everything we do comes from the heart, and in God's hands it grows to be "immeasurably more than all we ask or imagine." My heart's desire is to point to Christ's life changing work and help people realize how completely God loves us with an everlasting love that will transform us.

What People are Saying...

"This book begins with a personal invitation to the reader. "He is waiting...Not just for anyone, God is waiting for you!" Make no mistake, this book is about more than information. It's about God and helping kids to know Him in their everyday lives."

—www.ministry-to-children.com review

"I used this book for the evening devotional time with my children, ages 8 and twin 3 year olds. My son did the reading and he loved each chapter."

"This is an amazing tool for parents and teachers to use when presenting core Christian beliefs and concepts to a child. Big "churchy" words and ideas are presented and fully explained on a child's level."

—Amazon.com reader review

"...the first time in my life I found myself just a little upset with God. I [was] reading the book crying at how honest you were. Until I read your book, I never told one person how I felt. The book is great!"

—email from reader

"If you've ever had any type of loss in your life; then this is a must-read. Tina and her husband teach through their own personal struggles and triumphs so you can begin the path to true healing."

—Amazon.com reader review

"If there is no passion in your life,
then have you really lived?"

Find your passion, whatever it may be.

Become it, and let it become you and you will find great things happen for you, to you and because of you"

-T. Alan Armstrong
